Glenn Beck's American Journey Experience partners with U.S. Department of Education to launch 50-State History Rocks Tour

DALLAS (Dec. 16, 2025) — As America approaches its 250th anniversary, The American Journey Experience is proud to join the America 250 Civics Education Coalition and partner with the U.S. Department of Education, AFPI, and over 40 state and national organizations to recognize excellence in civics education and promote a shared understanding of the principles that shaped the founding and history of our nation.

The America 250 Civics Education Coalition is leading the charge to ensure that America's 250th birthday is not only a celebration of the past, but also a commitment to renewing civic knowledge, civic pride, and the responsibilities of citizenship for generations to come.

The American Journey Experience (AJE) is a museum and educational center founded in 2020 by Glenn Beck, home to more than 100,000 artifacts that illuminate the full arc of America's story. Unlike traditional museums, AJE overcomes the typical limitations of passive observation by inviting visitors to physically handle original documents and artifacts. More than a museum, AJE is a catalyst for enduring patriotism by challenging guests to carry out the lessons of the past into their own lives and inspiring them to pursue meaningful change in their families, their communities, and the nation.

Glenn Beck's American Journey Experience is excited to announce a partnership with the U.S. Department of Education to launch the History Rocks Tour, a national partnership dedicated to advancing civic education and expanding opportunities for students to learn about the ideas, individuals, and events that define the American story.

The tour will run from December 2025 through May 2026 and include one stop in each state. The AJE will join the Secretary of Education, Linda McMahon, in states across the country.

With a focus on K-12 education, the tour will highlight each state's path to statehood and its role in shaping the country. Events will feature interactive exhibits and historic artifacts from the American Journey Experience collection.

"This partnership takes America's history out of the vaults and places it directly in the hands of students and communities," said Glenn Beck, founder of the American Journey Experience.

"When you stand face-to-face with the real artifacts and the real stories of courage, sacrifice, and faith that built this nation, something powerful happens — you don't just learn history, you feel it."

Beck said the partnership with the Department of Education will help ensure students and families engage directly with America's story during the 250th anniversary of the United States.
